The rejection of the claims under 35 USC 102 has been dropped in response to applicants' arguments.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Callingham for reasons of record.

Applicant argues that the silicon oil in Callingham is different from that used in the claims because it is volatile. Applicant urges that Callingham is non-analogous art. This argument has been considered but is not persuasive because preamble limitations do not carry any weight in product claims. No unobvious or unexpected difference is seen between the claimed composition and the referenced composition.

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hartung for reasons of record.

Applicant argues that the silicon oil in Hartung is different from that used in the claims because it is volatile. Applicant urges that Hartung is non-analogous art. This argument has been considered but is not persuasive because preamble limitations do not carry any weight in product claims. No unobvious or unexpected difference is seen between the claimed composition and the referenced composition.

Claims 1, 3-9 and 12-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ball in view of Lissant for reasons of record.

Applicant argues that the silicon oil in Ball is different from that used in the claims because it is volatile. Applicant urges that Ball is non-analogous art. This argument has been considered but is not persuasive because preamble limitations do not carry any weight in product claims. No unobvious or unexpected difference is seen between the claimed composition and the referenced composition.

The rejection of the claims under 35 USC 112 has been dropped in response to applicants' amendments to the claims.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
